

Outside Fun and Learning

Morgan you are having such a wonderful time playing outside in the beautiful weather we are having, you have learned there are so many things you CAN do: ride the trolly down the hill, be brave enough to play in slime and bubbly water, throw water balloons and balloons full of water (that you discovered were much harder to burst), jump on the trampoline, also all the fun you were learning in the sandpit with the animals trucks spades and buckets to mention just few of the activities you have been so busy at.

While having so much fun, you are learning all about yourself and what you are capable of, how to negotiate with your peers and your cousins to achieve the desired result, how to try new things and to try again when something doesn't work right the first time, you are also learning lots about responsibility and consequences and of course lots of maths learning in the water and sandpit.

Teagan, I asked you not to do that!

Got you Reyce!

It will not burst
